Relocation America launches a new affinity program called Relocation America Mobility.

Relocation America, a worldwide relocation management company established in 1985, has just launched a new affinity relocation program. Relocation America Mobility is a structured counseling program that is targeting the lump sum and recruiting industry. This program works with companies that do not provide full service relocation programs.

Through Relocation America Mobility the transferring individual can take advantage of our cost tracking system, real estate network and access our vendor network and their volume discounts. In addition to using our time tested real estate network, they will have the ability to share in a rebate program that allows the transferring individual to receive a portion of the real estate commissions. This mobility program has been met with overwhelming success with each company that is introduced. Details of this program or any other Relocation America program, call David Foess, VP Sales at 877-500-4466
