Jump in for a great cause! Relocation America's president, Stuart Elsea participated in a Charity event in February of 2009. Hundreds of spectators lined the windows of Detroit's own Rooster Tail as brave souls wearing crazy costumes jumped into the frigid water of the Detroit River for the Special Olympics Michigan Polar Plunge.

The polar plunge is a fun-filled event open to all courageous and community-minded individuals willing to plunge into the cold water and raise critical funds to support the year-round athletic training of more than 16,000 athletes across the state.
